A TRIBUTE

THE RUDDER, published each spring by the seniors, is one of the treasures of high school life. It records in pictures and appropriate write-ups the activities of the students and faculty of our Alma Mater. Having lived through the boom period and the great depression, it appears in this second year of World War II, in the colors blue and silver, to celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary.

Senior Class Song

Every high school has commencement
That comes from year to year.
It brings a night of parting
From the school we hold so dear,
And our classmates tried and true,
What e'er the future brings,
Our thoughts will return to you
And days of the past.

Wherever life may lead our footsteps—
Whatever we may do—
To Dwight we pledge allegiance
And our loyalty to you.
With a purpose ever noble,
As we strive in every test,
May we offer to the world
A symbol of our best.

Farewell to Dwight High!
Lead us aright,
Our Alma Mater,
With your green and white.
Dwight High forever
Bind us to you;
Guide us to happiness
With our ideals so true.

MR. C. A. BROTHERS

Superintendent of Schools, Dwight . . .

Mr. Brothers, who has been principal of the Dwight Township High School for the past thirty-two years, received his education at the Northern Illinois State Teachers College. He also attended Lake Forest University, Lake Forest, Illinois, and there earned his A.B. degree. He earned his Master's degree from Columbia University, New York City, several years ago.

Under his leadership our school has proceeded along its way, with many outstanding achievements. Dwight Township High is recognized as being among the finest in the state for the size of the community.

New York City
May 24, 1948

DEAR MISS HUNTER,

It's been five years since that memorable day when I graduated from dear old Dwight High, and I imagine that you will be rather surprised to hear from me. A great deal of water has passed under the bridge since then, but surprisingly enough I've been able to keep in contact with nearly all of my former classmates. I thought perhaps you might be interested in hearing something about them. I am also sending you a picture album which I made after I returned from South America a year ago.

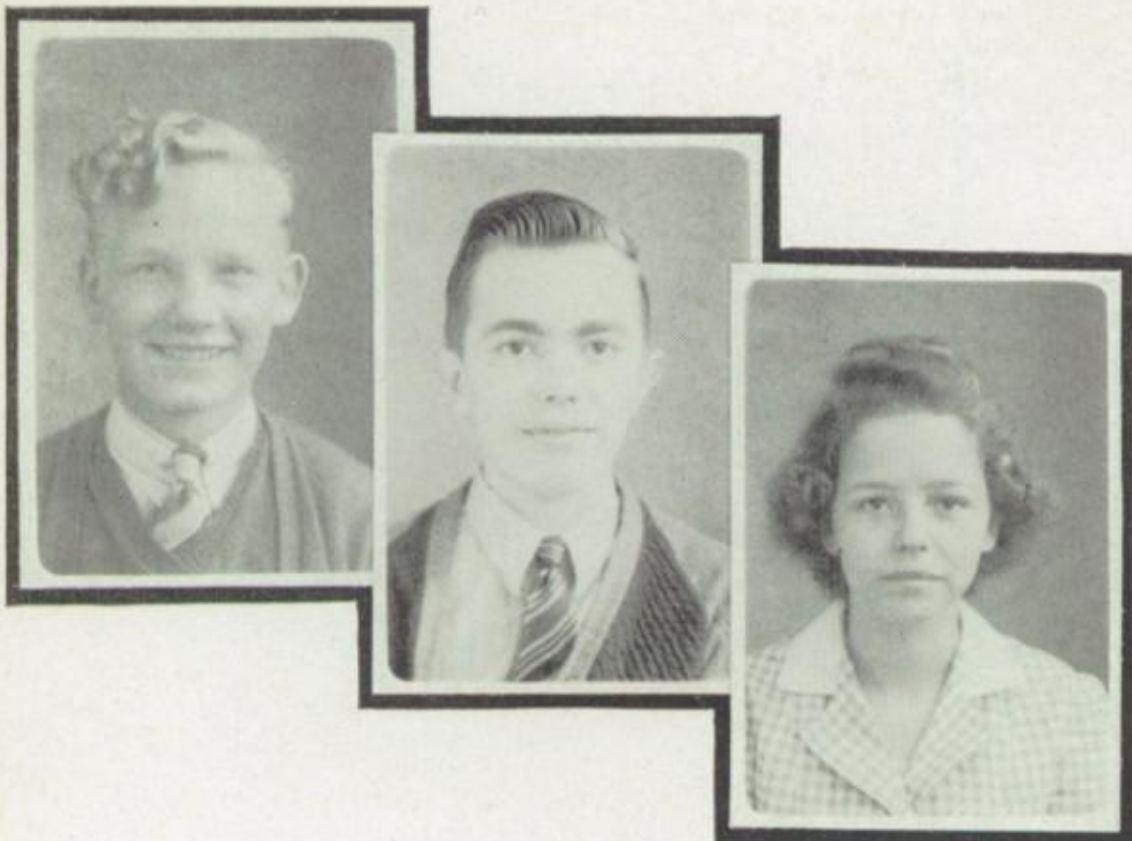

As you probably remember, I attended the World Reconstruction Conference at Reo de Janeiro as a correspondent from the New York Herald-Times. Another famous foreign correspondent (incidentally a former classmate), Eleanor Hayes, attended the conference with me.

On the first page of the album is a picture of the Caribbea, the famous South American liner which has broken all speed records with its super Diesel engines, especially designed by the 1945 Nobel Prize winner, Gilbert Kamm. I understand he now has a new assistant who graduated with me in 1943. Ray Cassady is his name.

The events of that trip are still quite vivid in my mind, and I've been able to recall a great many of them after re-reading the diary which I kept at that time. When we boarded the Caribbea, Eleanor and I were escorted to our cabin by none other than the head steward, Elmer Weber. He informed us, much to our delight, that Frank Prindiville and Glen Thomas were petty officers on the ship, and that Joe Ruder was in command. So we resolved to see them after we finished unpacking our luggage. We not only found them, but we also saw three former Ransom girls, Ruth Wright, Helen Hagi, and Juanita Ewing, who were on their way to Buenos Aires to open a beauty shop with all the latest equipment. Helen said that Ray Carty, who has built up a good business in air-conditioning in Buenos Aires, was going to be in charge of the installation of the air-conditioning system in their shop. The rest of our trip was rather uneventful.

Disembarking at Rio de Janeiro, Eleanor suggested that we do a little sight-seeing after we established our residence at one of the best hotels in Rio, the

Class History

As the month of August, 1939, drew to a close, the class of '43 started the adventure of high school as freshmen.

With Miss Lovejoy to guide us through that first trying year, we chose as our president, Donald Michaels; vice-president, Jeannette Wadleigh; secretary, Margaret Weldon; treasurer, Dorothy Riber.

Then we became sophomores and were glad of it, too! No longer could we be classed as "green" freshmen.

As sophomores we selected for the office of president, Gilbert Kamm; vice-president, Oluf Lund; secretary-treasurer, Julia Ricolo. Mr. Haegele was our sponsor.

In February we held a party in the lower hall. Of course there was a noticeable improvement shown in our dancing as we became more experienced in the art.

In the fall of 1941 we became juniors and were definitely classed in the upper bracket of the school society.

Our junior leaders were Iris McKinney, president; Phyllis Frederisy, vice-president; Doris Robinson, secretary; and Gilbert Kamm, treasurer. Miss McClelland was our sponsor until the second semester, when she left D. T. H. S. Miss Chewning then became our adviser.

"Growing Pains" was the name of our junior play given in December. The cast included Eleanor Hayes, Oluf Lund, Iris McKinney, Doten Bush, Nancy Lewis, Dorothy Paulsen, Jewell Armes, Miriam Burkhardt, Shirley Reeb, Richard Billings, Joe Ruder, William Call, Herbert Drew, Donald Michaels, Lucille Flint, Anna Porth, Rosemary Cruise, and John Metzke.

Our biggest moment of the year was the Junior-Senior Reception, known to all as the "Prom". May 23 was the date of our farewell to the seniors of 1942.

This year we chose Doten Bush, president; Herbert Drew, vice-president; Nancy Lewis, secretary; and Iris McKinney, treasurer. Miss Hunter became our senior adviser.

To earn money we sold magazines and Christmas wreaths, held many mixers, and sold candy at the games.

Eleanor Hayes was voted the editor of The Trojan News. Nancy Lewis was elected editor-in-chief of the '43 Rudder, a position which carried many responsibilities.

Our representative in the D. A. R. Good Citizen contest was Iris McKinney.

Glenn Conschack was our senior essay contest winner for the American Legion Essay.

The senior play was entitled "The Imaginary Invalid". In the cast were Oluf Lund, Eleanor Hayes, Iris McKinney, Walter Komorowski, Nancy Lewis, Harvey Battrell, John Metzke, Donald Michaels, William Call, Trella Klingler, Gene Watters, and Herbert Drew.

The Scribblers Club has as its intention, the encouragement and training of seniors who are interested in writing.

Members of the Trojan News Staff are selected from this organization each fall, usually during the first month of school.

This year movies on journalism, discussions on parliamentary procedure, and work on the school newspaper provided programs for the monthly meetings.

The Curtain Call Dramatic Club was organized September 24. The thirty-one members chose to emphasize the subject of costumes for the year. Interesting programs were planned around this idea.

At Christmas the entertainment of Characters from Story Books, arranged by Eleanor Hayes, provided an effective use of costumes.

The Club felt it an honor to be able to collect a fund of one hundred dollars as a donation to the "Stagedoor Canteen".

A Valentine Dance climaxed the meetings for the year.

The Language Club this year was composed of members of the Latin and Spanish classes. At each meeting the roll call was answered in Latin or Spanish. Throughout the year plays and other entertainment features were given in the two respective languages.

A movie was sponsored by the club which netted over fourteen dollars. At the Christmas meeting, an exchange of gifts was made.

The club was of definite educational and social value to its members, as all agreed at the end of the year.

Two major programs in which the girls participated were the Christmas cantata given December 18 and the spring concert presented April 16. Both of these consisted of mixed chorus members, solos, and concerted numbers. In addition, the girls have taken part in these programs: Patrons' Day, April 9; Assembly Program, April 15; Baccalaureate, May 30. Also small groups and soloists have sung for the Senior Woman's Club and at Commencement.

The 1942-'43 Dwight Band found itself the busiest band in the history of the school. It appeared at many functions in town, and, as usual, was heard at important athletic events.

Special marching formations were presented at basketball games and at the Patrons' Day Program in April. The band also held a joint concert with the Glee Clubs in the spring.

Other public appearances were made at the junior and senior plays, Hospital Day Parade, and Memorial Day Parade.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Bartells of Streator has come to Dwight Township High School each Tuesday to confer with students and to promote their general health and well-being. With the cooperation of local doctors she has conducted clinics and has given attention to all student health problems.

NEW TEACHERS

At the beginning of the second semester, Miss Wilma Leasman became a member of the faculty, taking the position in the commercial department formerly held by Miss Chandler. Miss Leasman is a graduate of the Illinois State Normal University.

In February Miss Martha Smith, of Illinois Wesleyan University, accepted the position of teacher of music and English formerly held by Miss Helen Ridinger, who resigned early in the month.

Our class colors were blue and silver; the class flower was the American beauty rose; the motto was "Watch, stand firm in the faith, play the man, be strong". The motto was taken from the book of Corinthians in the Bible.

We were the guests of the juniors at the Prom on May 22. This was a fitting finale to our social activities at D. T. H. S.

On Sunday, May 30, Baccalaureate services were held, and on June 1, the antics of class night were presented.

Commencement, crowning the achievements of our last four years in D. T. H. S., was held on June 3. With diplomas in hand, we left the realm of dear old Dwight High to embark on life's journey.

The purpose of this organization is to create a better athletic program and to promote sportsmanship among the boys interested in athletics.

This club helps to create a closer relationship among the participants and stimulates interest in sports activities.

A feature of this club is the presentation of the "Most Valuable Player" award to the most outstanding player in basketball and football. However, this practice was discontinued this year because of the metal shortage.

Football

With the end of the 1942 football season, another successful season can be added to Dwight's football history. Starting out rather slow, the Trojans improved rapidly and finished in full stride. The fact that there were only seven games this year did not lessen the excitement. Dwight won the majority of the games, with four victories against three defeats. Although this record is not outstanding, it is interesting to note that two of these defeats ended by the score of 14-13. These games could have easily been turned into victories or ties by the addition of an extra point.

Five lettermen returned at the start of the football season to form the nucleus of this year's football team. They were Ricolo, Bush, Call, Sorenson, and Christenson. Bush and Ricolo were chosen as co-captains.

Dwight dropped its initial game at Watseka in a thrilling encounter which ended 14-13. Failure to convert an extra point late in the fourth quarter cost the 'Trojans a tie. Dwight made twelve first downs to Watseka's eleven, being able to score only two out of five goal line thrusts. Watseka scored first after recovering a fumble on their own 35. Dwight retaliated by tying the score before the first quarter ended. Watseka regained the lead in the second period on a sustained drive after the kick-off. The 'Trojans' attempt to make the score equal ended on the three yard line as the half ended. The final touchdown came with only two minutes left to play as Eddie Christenson and Frankie Ricolo cooperated to make the score. However, the conversion failed, and Dwight lost a hard fought contest.

In the first home game of the season, Dwight was defeated by Normal Community 20-6. Dwight had trouble stopping the fast, shifty backfield of Normal; however, the game was closer than the score signifies. The Ironmen scored first in the opening period and added the extra point. The 'Trojans countered to cut the lead to a single point in the second quarter, but failed to convert. The score remained 7-6 until the final quarter when Normal scored twice to end the game. This was the first loss in the Corn Belt conference for this year.

Dwight defeated their old rivals from Morris 14-6 in the third game of the season. Dwight outplayed Morris making eight first downs to Morris' four. The snow-swept gridiron made the conditions very unfavorable for football and consequently resulted in many fumbles. The 'Trojans scored in the opening period immediately after the kickoff on the sustained drive. The conversion was good and Dwight led 7-0. Morris' only score came in the third quarter on a fumble, but they failed to convert. The final score came in the last quarter when Bush intercepted a pass on the 30 yard stripe. The try for extra point was good and Dwight was victorious 14-6.

Failure to convert a point after touchdown again proved costly as Dwight lost its second decision 14-13 to Normal U. High. Normal pulled a victory out of the fire in the last minute and a half of play by scoring a touchdown and extra point. U. High tallied first on their home field in the second quarter. The 'Trojans deadlocked the count in the third period to make the score 7-7. Dwight responded again early in the fourth period and scored via a pass for the lead. However they failed to convert the extra point late in the fourth quarter. This proved to be the margin of this thrilling encounter.

The 'Trojans played brilliant ball before a large homecoming crowd to trounce Fairbury 26-6, scoring twice in the first quarter and once in the third and fourth periods. Dwight completely out-played their opponents, making 15-3 first downs and completing 5 out of 14 passes. The first score came on a thirty yard pass play and the second first period touchdown was scored on a 52 yard march. Following a scoreless second quarter, Dwight came back to make it 20-0. The final score came on a dazzling 80 yard run by Frankie Ricolo in the fourth period. Fairbury averted a shut-out by scoring against the reserves late in the fourth quarter.

In the last home game of the season, Dwight's hard charging 'Trojans ran roughshod over Clinton 26-7 for their second Corn Belt conference win.

Coach John Pace's warriors outgained their rivals two to one in rushing. Dwight marched 68 yards for the first of two touchdowns in the opening period. Their second advance came after an exchange of punts and the score was then 12-0. Passing and running plays brought the Trojans their third score in the second quarter, and after a scoreless third quarter Dwight counted its final touchdown on another sustained march. The only Clinton score came in the last three minutes when Pace's third team was in action.

On Armistice Day, Dwight completed its 1942 football season by trouncing Pontiac 12-0. A large crowd was on hand to see the traditional battle between these two rivals. The game was dominated by the Trojans most of the way. The victory was Dwight's third in the Corn Belt conference. Frankie Ricolo played brilliant football to score both touchdowns at the end of his football career. Dwight scored, first, early in the second period after threatening several times in the first quarter; however, the conversion again failed. Dwight threatened on other occasions, advancing to the five yard line as the second quarter ended, and working the ball to the 15 yard stripe at the close of the game.

Ten seniors will graduate from the football squad this year. They are D. Bush, F. Ricolo, H. Battrell, W. Call, J. Metzke, R. Christenson, W. Komorowski, H. Drew, S. Zappa, G. Currie.

Basketball

The 1942-'43 basketball season played during the second year of this war was not curtailed as much as was expected. The season officially opened on November 16, when the candidates reported for the first practice. The smallest number that had responded to the call in the history of the school reported. Returning lettermen from which to build a nucleus were Bob Christenson, Doten Bush, Frank Ricolo, and Harvey Battrell. Because of gas rationing the light-weight games were eliminated to a certain degree, since only eight to ten members could go on the trips. Intramural games were usually played before the regular games.

After two weeks of practice, the Trojans traveled to Braidwood for their initial start. They were defeated by a veteran Braidwood team, although they showed promising signs. The game was played on even terms until the third and fourth periods when the Trojans began to lag behind. The final count was 26 to 19.

The second game was a different story when Dwight tackled a fighting Fairbury five in their own den and came out victorious 28-27. Dwight had to break down a four point lead in two minutes to come out ahead. This was a well fought conflict and a well-earned victory.

Dwight defeated the Pontiac Indians 41-39 in a thrilling encounter for their first home game. This also happened to be the first Corn Belt conference game. After obtaining the lead with only ninety seconds left to go, the Trojans controlled the ball for the remaining time.

Failing to hold the lead, Dwight fell victim to a good Morris quintet. Leading 17 to 14 at the half, the Trojans succumbed in the third and fourth periods to lose 33-28. The game was played at Morris and was Dwight's first Corn Belt loss.

Normal Community's quintet treated Dwight to another setback when they invaded the local gym. The fast-breaking players of Normal proved to be too much for Dwight to handle although the game was closer than the score signifies. The final score proved to be 41 to 25.

Getting off to a fast start, Clinton managed to outlast Dwight's challenge to win 33 to 27. The Trojans gamely fought back to whittle the margin down, but were unable to go ahead.

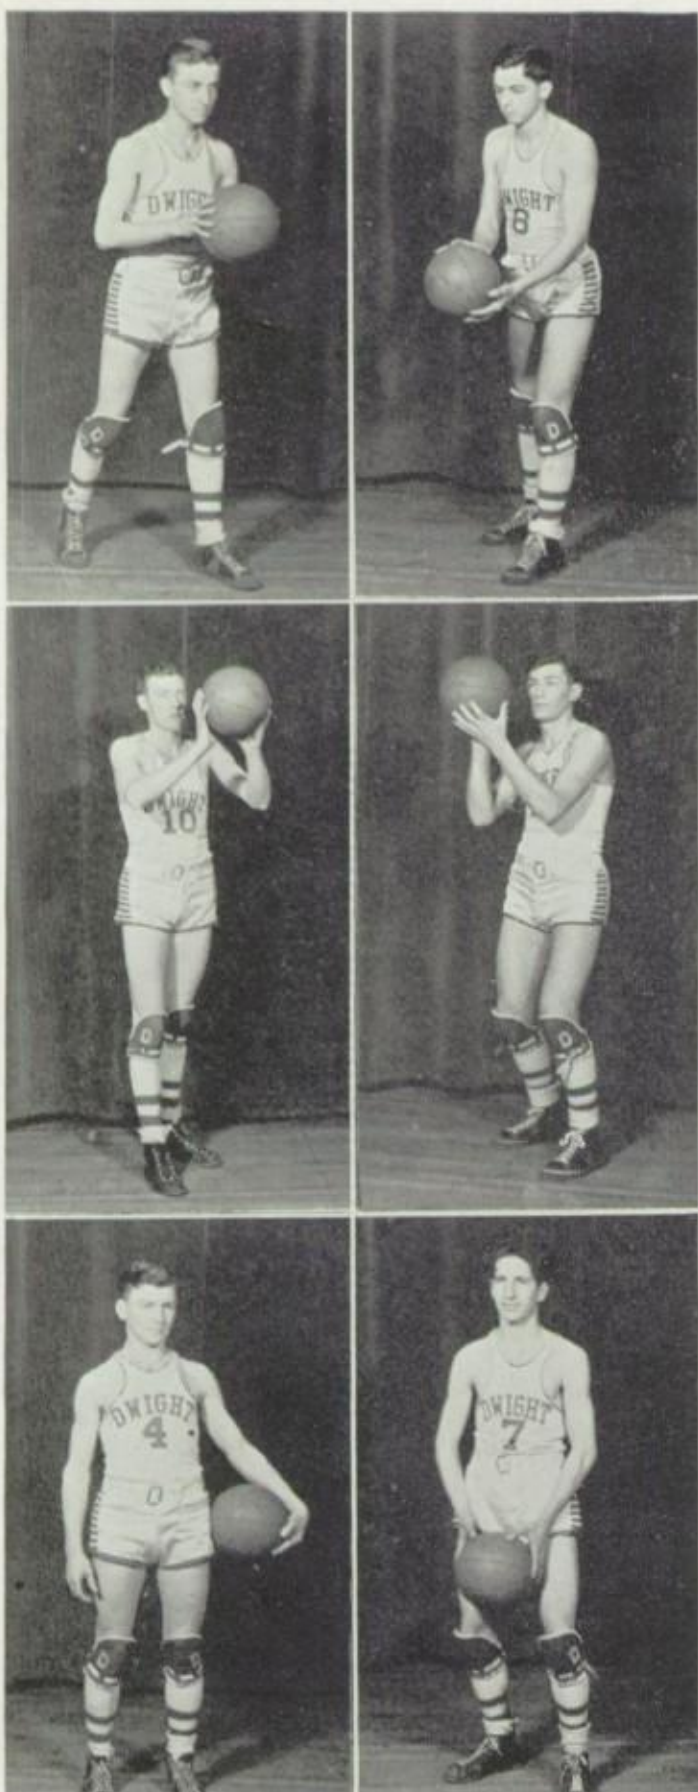

Playing two days before Christmas, Dwight defeated a very capable Wilmington team. The game was very close throughout with neither team leading by a decisive score. The Trojans pulled away in the last few minutes to capture the honors for this game 30-27.

Christmas holidays found us without a Pontiac Holiday Tournament. It was cancelled because of war conditions. The basketball record to this period was three wins and four losses.

The Northeast Conference Tournament was held at Morris this year. Dwight overpowered a weak Mazon five, 29 to 20, in the first game, only to lose to a sharp shooting Coal City club in the semi-finals, 43 to 38. Dwight then came back strong to clinch third place in the consolation game by defeating a very capable Braidwood team 37-21.

Almost two weeks later, Bob Christensen was lost to the squad because of the age limit. Doten Bush, a mid-semester student, left for Purdue. Thus the Trojans were weakened a great deal. Don Sorenson became eligible at the semester and made a real effort to fill the gap left by these boys.

Continuing with their schedule, the next opponent was Morris. Dwight got off to a good start and led the Redskins the entire first three quarters. Morris, however, put on a burst of speed in the last period to pass a determined Dwight team and win 37 to 32.

Then the Trojans journeyed to Marseilles only to be defeated by a hard-driving Marseilles club 32 to 26. Dwight rallied in the last quarter but failed to catch their opponents who built up an early lead.

University High of Normal was the Trojans' next stop, but again they had to put up with a defeat. The Trojans ran into hard luck, losing several players on fouls. They lost the game 41 to 23.

The "Traveling Trojans" then appeared at Coal City to challenge a very fast Coal City five but were unable to hold them down. Dwight players were unable to hit the basket consistently and were defeated 26 to 18.

Gardner had to come from behind to win the next game. Leading 15 to 14 at half time, the Trojans slipped behind when fouls began to spell their downfall. After being held down until the last period, Gardner pulled ahead to win 36 to 25.

Trailing in the opening period, Dwight returned to the game to trounce Mazon 53 to 25. Dwight showed fine teamwork and completely outplayed Mazon. This was the Trojans' seventh victory.

Back Row—Gene Watters, Margaret Gossrau, Kenneth Thompson, Lee McKinney, Clifton Schutt.

Tumbling Team

Acrobatics and stunts are the specialty of the tumbling squad. The trapeze and rings, as well as pyramids and gymnastics, appear on the practice schedule for Monday evenings.

This year was uneventful since the squad was composed almost entirely of new members and did not make any public appearances or give any performances.

One outstanding performer tried to commit suicide several times, but succeeded only in breaking a wrist and cultivating a beautiful bump on the top of his head. Bruises and floor burns were continued as usual.

We—

Class Will

We, the Class of 1943, of the Dwight Township High School of the Village of Dwight, County of Livingston, State of Illinois, being of good memory and sound mind, and having followed our worthy faculty, do hereby make, publish, ordain, and declare this to be our last Will and Testament.

I, Ellis Baldwin, bequeath my shyness to Jeanne Oberlin.

I, Harvey Battrell, leave my nickname "Flinger" to both Bob and Andy, for I figure it will take two to duplicate my shots.

I, Juanita Bilsborough, leave my studious ways to Don Sorenson.

I, Miriam Burkhart, bequeath my nickname "Bubbles" to Lydell Kraft.

I, Doten Bush, wish upon Howard Burns my love of mathematics,—long may he study.

I, Bill Call, leave my winning personality to Tom Brown.

I, Ray Carty, leave nobody nothing.

To Rita Conroy, I, Ray Cassady, leave my artistic ability.

I, Robert Christensen, will my V-8 to any fellow who goes to Morris regularly.

I, Bob "Hawkshaw" Christensen, will my art of love to my cousin Gene.

I, Wilfred Christiansen, bequeath my way with the girls to Boyd Bessey.

I, Glenn Conschack, leave behind some of my willingness to study to William Doran.

To any sleepy little junior, I, Gene Currie, do leave my alertness in classes.

I, Rosemary Cruise, bequeath my tiny size and perfect brown curls to my little sister, Kathleen, to continue the family tradition.

My ability to evade the clutches of the fair maidens, I, Herbert Drew, bequeath to Robert Stroebel.

I, Juanita Ewing, bequeath my dancing ability to Norris Snow.

To Jean Rentz, I, Lucille Flint, leave my dependability and thoroughness in my school work.

I, Howard Fredensborg, bequeath upon Marguerite Rhode, my nickname "Speedy Freedy".

I, Phyllis Frederisy, leave my trombone to Bill Ziegler, who has acquired enough lung control in debate to blow it.

I, Anne Frye, leave my job at "Joe's" to the Ransom crowd, who spends much time there.

Class Will

To my little sister Phyllis, I, Helen Hagi, will my ardent host of admirers, in order to keep them in the family.

I, Lester Hansen, solemnly bequeath my interest in studies to Lillian Haag.

To anyone with a happy-go-lucky manner like mine, I, Eleanor Hayes, leave my witty remarks.

I, Edith Hollis, want to leave the Kruger twins my typing ability—they might need it.

I, Lois Judevine, leave my pile of books and hours of study to someone struggling through physics and chemistry.

I, Gilbert Kamm, leave all my little "fifinellas" to anyone lucky enough to find some—so far, I haven't.

I, Lorraine Kiley, leave my quietness to Donald McNamara, who really could use some.

To someone with big feet, I, Trella Klingler, will my size "4's".

I, Walter Komorowski, am glad to leave my bed-fellow on debate trips, to someone who can kick good and hard.

I, Elmer Kruger, bequeath to any shy junior my ability to get by with "horse-play" in the senior assembly.

I, Marvin Kutz, leave my tardiness to John Wyllie.

I, Arnold Landon, do bequeath my booklet, "How to Make Sodas, Jerk" to "Doc" Spreng—who should be able to take the hint.

As is customary, I, Nancy Lewis, will have to bequeath my position of Editor-in-Chief to some unfortunate junior.

I, Oluf Lund, leave behind me all the headaches of being Business Manager of the Rudder, to some husky junior.

To Oliver Zappa, I, Iris McKinney, will my bangs of red hair.

I, Charlotte McKune, leave my interest in the G. A. A. to Thelma Thomas.

I, John Metzke, leave my hilarious conduct to next year's cheerleaders.

I, Don Michaels, will my ability to get in and out of Mixers to anyone who can use it.

I, Dorothy Paulsen, want to pass on my taxi business to anyone lucky enough to have four tires and a little gas.

To Keith Roberts, I, Jack Phelan, leave my saucy disposition.

I, Anna Porth, solemnly bequeath my pleasing personality to Betty Weber.

I, Frank Prindiville, leave my excellent hand-writing to another "lefty"—Alice Mooney.

I, Shirley Reeb, will my high heels and earrings to Gretchen Bagnell.

I, Frank Ricolo, leave my black curly hair to Madelyn McKinney.

To Frances Bunderson, I, Doris Robinson, leave my way with the boys.

I, Joe Ruder, will all my "height" to Douglas Christensen.

I, Frances Skonetski, leave my laugh at Jean Michaels.

To George Hager, I, Glen Thomas, leave my great interest in agriculture.

To someone less fortunate, I, Nancy Tock, leave my beautiful eyes and hair.

I, Jack Thompson, bequeath my unruly hair to Anna Mae Simpson, whose hair always looks just right.

I, John Turner, leave my absent excuses to Bob Mathisen.

I, Donald Van Dyke, leave my job collecting papers to Bob Nelson, who seems interested.

I, Fern Waldron, bequeath my interest in home economics to "Bunker" Rhode.

To Shervin Epstein, I, John Waters, bequeath that much needed gentlemanly manner.

I, Gene Watters, leave my ability to get a carload of girls at noon, to John Miller.

I, Elmer Weber, think Rosemary Ewing could use some of my quietness,—so to her, I bequeath a large amount.

I, Margaret Weldon, leave to Betty Asa my ability to plan exciting parties.

I, Ruth Wright, leave my cheerfulness to Ronald Schmidt, who seems to take things rather seriously.

I, Fred Zabel, leave my driving ability to someone eager to learn—Wray Call.

I, Steve Zappa, will my good ways in basketball to next year's "Star".

We hereby revoke all previous wills made by us.

In witness whereof we set our hand and affix our seal at Dwight, Illinois, on this day in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-three.

Basketball

Regaining their lost pep, Dwight romped to victory over Fairbury, 35 to 27. The Trojans led from start to finish and were never in danger. Building up an early lead the Trojans coasted to win easily.

Unable to stop the Pontiac Indians, the Trojans lost, 36 to 31. They led in the first period but slipped behind and were unable to overtake their old rivals. Though previously victorious the Trojans lost a hard fought contest.

Dwight took to the road again and visited Normal Community. The Ironmen from Normal were red hot that night, throwing in 24 field goals to Dwight's 13, to win, 55 to 33. The Trojans trailed the sharpshooting team throughout this encounter.

Revenge was the guiding motive as Dwight administered a 59 to 35 defeat to U. High of Normal. The game was close throughout the first half, but Dwight breezed ahead to run away with the game.

Playing perhaps the best game of the season and the last regular scheduled game, Dwight lost a heartbreaking tilt to Clinton. It was nip and tuck all the way as neither team was able to pull ahead. The Trojans trailed by one point in the last minute but were unable to score and were beaten 21 to 20.

After the regular season the Trojans met Gardner in the Regional Tournament held at Dwight. Failing to stop Gardner, the Dwight Trojans dropped a close decision 37 to 29 and closed the 1942-'43 chapter of basketball.

Prophecy

Santa Cruz, which is pictured on the third page of my album. Having read about this hotel (which is located on one of the most magnificent thoroughfares in Rio, the Avenida da Branca) in the South American Journal, I was particularly interested in the interior decorations designed by Margaret Weldon, known throughout the world of art as "Margot".

While we were registering at the desk, Lorraine Kiley and her bridegroom arrived on their honeymoon. We were so glad to see them that we insisted upon taking their picture in front of the hotel entrance. The photograph appears on page eight beneath the picture of Walter Komorowski, whom we also met in the lobby of the hotel. You will remember that Walt made quite an impression at the reconstruction conference as a personal delegate from our president.

Leaving the hotel, we hailed a taxi with the name Paulsen Cab Company written in yellow letters on the doors. Wondering if this could be our old classmate Dorothy Paulsen, we asked the driver, who turned out to be Jack Thompson, another alumnus. He informed us that she had been in Rio de Janeiro for six months, having rapidly built up a profitable business. Eleanor took a picture of both the cab and the driver, which I pasted opposite the page devoted to the interior of the hotel where we stayed.

The first in the series of these interiors is that of the bowling alley located next to the restaurant in the hotel. It was a sound-proof room managed by two former bowling champs, Glenn Conschack and Don Michaels. The next picture is that of the famed Sandalwood Room, whose outstanding murals were done by Doris Robinson and Nancy Tock. There is also a photograph of the gymnasium where we found Steve Zappa and Frankie Ricolo acting as athletic instructors in the American sport of basketball.

We surely were surprised to find so many of our former classmates in South America, although the United States certainly has become Latin American minded, thanks to our Good Neighbor policy.

If you will turn the page, Miss Hunter, you will find a snapshot of the famed Continental ball room dancers, Reeb and Turner (Shirley and John, to us). Eleanor took this action shot of them during one of their routine numbers while they were filling their third return engagement at the hotel. Not long ago, I read that they had just completed a tour through all of South America and were planning to visit the United States soon.

Chris and his Syncopated Merry-Makers were also headlined in the floor show at our hotel. Chris, better known to you, perhaps, as Wilfred Christiansen, is now here in New York, billed as the sweetest and greatest trumpet player since Charlie Spivak and Harry James. He has just accepted Phyllis Frederisy in his band as soloist on the trombone, and she is tops.

We spent three weeks in Rio, and after the conference, which was short and very successful, we headed home by strato-plane. Boarding the plane, we were greeted by the air-stewardess, Rosemary Cruise, and led to our seats. One of our neighbors across the aisle proved to be Nancy Lewis, who was sitting with a red-haired young man. She confided to us that she was private secretary to the president of the airlines and that her companion was none other than her employer, Herbert Drew. The rest of the trip proved to be very entertaining as we renewed old acquaintances. Nancy said that she had received a letter from Trella Klingler, who stated that she had accepted a position as advertising manager on the New York Times. Eleanor immediately went to see her after we reached home, and we all three dined together. We still meet occasionally, although Trella is now engaged to be married.

When we reached New York after a non-stop flight, Eleanor insisted upon taking a picture of Nancy and Herbie, which I have pasted on the remaining page of my album beneath the photo of the strato-plane in which we made the trip. This ship, incidentally, was designed by an aeronautics expert, Donald Van Dyke.

I hope that you will enjoy looking at the album as much as I enjoyed making it. But naturally you would like to know about the remainder of the class, although I suppose some of them have written to you more often than I have.

This morning, on my way to the office of the New York Herald-Times, I stopped at a hotel restaurant to eat my breakfast. As the place was crowded, I was forced to share a table with one of the customers, who seemed familiar to me. It was Jack Phelan, and he recognized me immediately. We then became engrossed in conversation and failed to notice that our orders were ready to be taken. Looking at the menu, I discovered that Bill Call was listed as the hotel's head chef. After our orders were delivered, I asked Jack what he was doing in New York. He replied that he had just arrived on the Century Limited the night before with John Metzke, to attend a stockholders' meeting that afternoon. Jack said that John had been too tired to come down and have breakfast with him. I was sorry, naturally, to have missed seeing John and told Jack to be sure and say "Hello" to him. I then asked Jack about the boys back home. You undoubtedly know that Robert Christensen, Lester Hansen, and Howard Fredensborg have revolutionized the farming methods of Illinois. Jack also said that John Waters has achieved nation-wide fame for his conversion of war industries into peace-time production centers. He has been aided by Elmer Kruger, Gene Currie, and Freddie Zabel, who, as union bosses, have a great deal of influence among the laboring classes.

I understand that Arnold Landon now owns his own drug store, and that Marvin Kutz is experimenting on a new type of hybrid seed corn. After I left Jack, I hurried on to the office, but was caught in a traffic jam and nearly fell into the arms of Juanita Bilsborough and Anna Frye, who informed me that they were both happily married. They had come to New York to do some shopping. We exchanged hasty "good-byes", and I hurried out of the bus and into my office building.

Because I was late, I dashed past the desk of our commercial artist, Ellis Baldwin, and the managing editor's receptionist, Charlotte McKune, with barely an acknowledging nod. However, when I reached my desk, I was informed by Eleanor that there was no immediate assignment to be done. So I relaxed in my chair with the latest edition of the Herald-Times and scanned the first page. The first thing that attracted my attention was the headline, "Lt. Doten Bush, U. S. N., Honored by President". It seems he has been awarded for his outstanding work in chemical engineering. I also noticed that Oluf Lund, organist renowned, was making his tenth performance by request at Carnegie Hall. His compositions for the piano and organ have also been published with great success. I hope I am able to hear him before he leaves. It has been a long time since I've seen Oluf. As I looked through the paper, my attention was attracted by the Love-Lorn column which is edited by Fern Waldron and Frances Skonetski. Next to their column is the home economist's "Hints to the Housekeeper", edited by Miriam Burkhart, Anna Porth, and Edith Hollis. On the next page I found a delightful interview of that famous prose writer and modern poet, Lois Judevine.

Reading the sports section, I discovered that Robert J. Christenson, "Hawk" to his friends and team-mates, has scored as high man at the Eastern Basketball Tourney and that Harvey Battrell has scored second highest. Also prominent in the field of sports is Eugene Watters, who has set new records in tumbling routines and acrobatics.

Well, I'm afraid I haven't time to write much more because Lucille Flint, our managing editor, is calling me into her office for a show-down of some kind, --I suppose, judging by the gleam in her eye.

Please write soon about the latest class to graduate from Dwight Township High School.

Sincerely yours,

IRIS MCKINNEY

The Last Word

Although the world's in great confusion,
We've tried to find the right solution
To give you this year's RUDDER.

And with great determination
We have reached our destination.
Though this book's no great sensation
We would have no other.
